

ABSTRACT

An external preparation for skin is provided which can be readily applied to the skin surface in a uniform manner, is excellent in effectiveness and storage stability, and has a pH of 2.0 or less. More specifically, the external preparation for skin of the present invention comprises one kind or two or more kinds of organic acid(s), and one kind or two or more kinds of nonionic water soluble polymer(s) except for polysaccharides, and has a pH of 2.0 or less.